AT SEA!

The Sea. Mare Nostrum, as the Romans called it [Historian's note: technically that just referred to the Mediterranean. Editor's Response: I don't care. Roll it.] For instance: did you know there is enough gold in the ocean for everyone on Earth to have 9 lbs of it? (We don't recommend looking that hard for it; the jellyfish can be possessive). What mysteries will it reveal to us as we glide, like a graceful eleven-story swan, upon its salty surface? Will we even notice it, engrossed in our games, music, food, poolside antics, and general merriment? All we can say is this: never turn your back on the Ocean...
